

Summer Fair Postponed

We apologise that it will not be possible to hold the summer fair this weekend as planned. The weather has been so very wet in the past week that even if it cheered up enough for us to be warm and dry on Saturday we would still have difficulty with placing things on our field.

Please note in your diaries that the fair will now be held on July 6th. We would still be very grateful for help with stalls and organisation—even if you can only help for an hour we'd be extremely grateful. The fair is open between 1 and 3pm, but help will be needed before and after, too. Please contact Mrs Brophy to volunteer.

Blog of the Week

It was very hard to choose this week's Blog of the Week. So many classes have been blogging and posting really interesting and entertaining items. Miss Kerrigan has two fantastic pieces of writing from Eryk and Blossom; Mrs Asker has another video showcasing the class's learning, and both Mrs Bloom and Mrs Gooch's classes have put up a whole host of fascinating posts: reviews, stories, pictures, factual items: far too many to enumerate. Check them out here for Mrs Gooch and here for Mrs Bloom. But, in the end, this week's blog of the week trophy has gone to The Ark, with so many great posts, and individual blogger of the week is Christopher Ngailo.

Annual Masses

Year 6 attended the annual Mass on Tuesday for all the children of the Catholic Schools in Reading district who are moving on this summer. As always it was a wonderful, and wonderfully moving occasion in the magnificent surroundings of Douai Abbey.

Last Friday, Mary Jane Binauhan, Jonathan Opoku-anoky and Tyler Adigler represented our school at Portsmouth Cathedral for the annual schools' Mass. The Bishop presented Mary-Jane with the Romero Award for our school, in recognition of the efforts our children and our community make to help others less fortunate than themselves.

Can you spot our Christ the King banner, held proudly aloft by Jonathan and Tyler?

SNIPPETS

Some of our friends in our community have been celebrating Eid this week. We wished them a joyful and blessed festival.

WE THANKED GOD FOR HIS MANY BLESSING THIS WEEK IN YORUBA:

NO NUTS

It is vitally important that we have no nuts or nut products in school, as some of our children are extremely allergic to nuts, and the smallest trace can cause them to become ill. Please remember not to include any nut products, including nut butters, in packed lunches.

We started our week in Spanish and finished in Polish.

"Buenos Dias!"

Can we recommend?

Suki and Bekko are Warrior Monkeys in training. They spend hours every day perfecting their martial arts skills in the training hall but they are always alert to danger and ready to answer the call to protect their island home. Fearless and determined, they have the bravery, focus, and spirit to follow the way of the true warrior!

This brand new book has only just been published and we are very excited that the author – Mrs Gooch's cousin – will be visiting our school on Monday July 8th. Children who wish to buy a copy of the book on the day can have it signed by the author!

Our Year 5 and 6 athletes who competed in the Reading Quad kids multi-sport event on Tuesday of this week. Of ten children who took part no fewer than nine came either first or second in at least one event! Tirzah Boakye came third in the individual girls' competition, and Daniel Brobbey won the boys'. Well done to all those who took part. Once again we were very proud.

A team from Christ the King who took part in the Students in Schools celebration at Reading University: Michele, Olivia, Jayda, Leonard and Tristan joined pupils from primary and secondary schools across Reading in a series of challenges culminating in a "University Challenge Quiz". They did very well, coming third in the event.

Rey De La Cruz and Lia De La Cruz who both went up a grading at Taekwondo recently. Rey is now a brown belt, while Lia is a blue belt.*
