Blog of the Week

Blog of the week: Mrs Asker's and Mrs Bloom's classes went to Portsmouth this week to visit the Blue Reef Aquarium as part of their topic on sea life. Mrs Bloom's class blog displays some of the interesting and curious flotsam the children found on the beach, while Mrs Asker's class has posted a great video showing the fun from the whole day. Mrs Asker's class has once again deservedly won the Blog of the Week trophy. Watch the video here.

Aaron's choice

James and The Giant Peach

by Roald Dahl

James lived with his aunts and he didn't like it. They made him do all the work and didn't give him enough to eat. One day a peach grew and grew and grew. The book is about James' adventures with the peach and the creatures who lived on it. It's an exciting book.

We started our week in Polish and finished in Arabic.

Congratulations!

Rhys Bascombe who plays for South Reading FC and did very well in a recent tournament.

Keziah Opoku-Acheampong who has gained her white level in gymnastics.

Tia Ashok who now has her red belt for Karate

Sophie Chippett who has gained her engineering badge at Brownies.

Sam Kolek: man of the match for Reading Tekkers in their most recent fixture..

(Apologies to Sam that last week we put in the wrong pupil, and the wrong football team!)

Our Year 5 and 6 New Age Kurling Team who competed extremely well in a recent tournament at JMA.

The Year 1 and 2 Multi-skills team who were medal winners in their competition on Thursday;

The Year 3 and 4 Multi-skills team who not only won medals (like the Year 1 and 2 team) but have won through to the next round and will represent Reading in the Berkshire School Games later in the summer.
