New on this week's Blogs...

Nursery have some fantastic photos of their Ash Wednesday service, and of pancake races from Tuesday;

Miss Hollows class has a super video of their dance performance;

Miss Hysen's blog has a brilliant story by Emmanuel Acheampong;

Mr Cosgrove's class has several excellent blogs, including a very colourful article about Beagles from Fabienne, some problems and an explanation of chess from Umar; and Molly and Arthur have had some exciting new adventures...

Congratulations to...

Cassidy Innis, Miram Gray and Marcus Gray who have all been baptised in the Church of Christ the King in the past two weeks.

Well done to them and we wish them every blessing.

Read for My School

Some children have made a really good start with Read for My School. Standing out over the first couple of weeks for having read a lot are Umar Khan, Fabienne Borkowska, Gatlin O'Donkor, Tiffany Maua, Molly Manning, Ethan Lourenco, Ciaren James and Rhiannon Eveleigh-Fisher.

All the children have their log-in details and they should have plenty of time for lots of reading over half-term!

Please pray for...

The family of our cook, Mrs Blanchard, whose mother passed away a week ago; Nicky Vanstone, our former play therapist and classroom support assistant, who is very ill with bowel cancer.

In the mornings

The playground is not supervised until 8.40. For their safety, children, and particularly very young children, should not be left unaccompanied in the playground before this. Also, please could parents bringing young children to Breakfast Club bring them into the school rather than leaving them at the gate?

Thank you for your co-operation with this.

Parents' Coffee Morning

Wednesday 2nd. March
9—10 a.m.

Jenny Clarke will meet interested parents outside the gates of Geoffrey Field School
